

National psychology exam recommended reading list

June 2021 edition

This reading list is provided to help candidates prepare for the national psychology examination (NPE). The texts are not mandatory. Other resources are of comparable quality and relevance as those on this list.

The recommended readings are organised according to their relevance to curriculum domains. Sections of some publications are noted as particularly relevant.

The recommended reading list is updated from time to time as new editions and other resources become available. Supervisors and examination candidates should check the website regularly.

The Board welcomes recommendations for the list. They can be sent to: psychologychair@ahpra.gov.au.

For information on the curriculum, please see the Board's National psychology examination curriculum at <https://www.psychologyboard.gov.au/Registration/National-psychology-exam.aspx>.
